The chunky semiprecious pieces by Atlanta duo Lee Lesley and Katherine Mulford combine Southern debutante propriety and simple, sophisticated style. "We try to create items that transcend trends," says Lesley. The designers favor delicate rose quartz, black Czech glass, and freshwater pearls—and recently introduced a new bridal collection, including pieces with adjustable strands of pearls or colored gems clasped with double-faced satin ribbon. Available at Nicole Miller (3393 Peachtree Rd., NE, 404-261-0202), The Bilthouse (511 E. Paces Ferry Rd., 404-814-9401), Melissa Sweet Bridal (3380 Peachtree Rd., 404-467-4181), and turqjewelry.com.

the lowdown...

hot item

Our accessory du jour is "The Weekender," a skinny, reversible rhinestone-studded leather belt ($195) designed by Amy Prater. Its sparkly side instantly dresses up any pair of jeans for a night out, and the low-key, muted metal backing is perfect with trousers for day. Available at Peoples (3236 Roswell Rd., 404-816-7292).

shop news

The new boutique Camden Street (417 Moreland Ave., 404-522-5859) is bringing high style to funky L5P. Shelves here are overflowing with separates from Killah by Miss Sixty and (s)us, T-shirts from American Apparel, innovative local designs from Trow by Susan Voelker, and colorful geometric leather cuffs from Joxasa.

The fall social season kicks off with Jeffrey Kalinsky's Fashion Cares 2004, a benefit runway show at the Woodruff Arts Center Galleria on August 30. See designs from Alexander McQueen, Manolo Blahnik, Jil Sander, Balenciaga, Dolce & Gabbana, Stella McCartney, and more. Tickets ($150 and up) benefit the Greater Atlanta Affiliate of the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation and the Atlanta AIDS Partnership Fund. Call 404-841-0215 for tickets and details.
